Walt Opens Up

The Daily Bulletin of Lexington High School

In the LEXICON of nineteen hundred and forty-two
It is our endeavor to bring to you
An annual, which fond memories will bring
Of classmates, picnics, and Junior Class rings,
Of schoolroom, football, and victories won,
Of trials, thrills, of foolish things done.

A hodge podge to you, it may seem indeed,
But we invite you straight through to proceed,
From coming to school 'til we say goodbye,
And go home and catch a little shuteye.

The Man Behind the Scenes Arrives

Presenting Mr. Jimmy Gerow

Who by his unfailing guidance and support, by his constructive work in Lexington High and our community, by his inspiration and friendliness, has made our L.H.S. 'days perfect ones; and to whom we proudly dedicate this 1942 edition of THE LEXICON.

We Go To Class With the Sophomores

The Sophomore Class of 1942 under the most able leadership of Doris Richey, president, and Bill Smith, Charles Britt, Ted Tysinger, and Paul Stroud became adapted to their days at L.H.S. They struggled through biology, dissecting crayfish and frogs, and fought a most valiant battle with Julius Caesar. The Sophomores have tasted this year of the life of activities in high school, while taking part in the Lexhipec, LEXICON and the other organizations. They have thoroughly prepared themselves for the experiences awaiting them in their most exciting year of all, their Junior year. They are now ready to enter the coming year with higher spirits of enthusiasm and with a greater desire to carry on the development of higher standards.

The Student Council Goes into Action, And We Find . . .

President Elizabeth Davis Giving Information

The Student Council is the central student organization of Lexington High School. The Council consists of the general officers: president "Lib" Davis, vice president Dermont Everhart, secretary Jean Craver, treasurer Barbara Bingham, reporter Bobby Arnold, sergeant-at-arms Bill Blaylock, a chosen representative from each homeroom and the four class presidents.

The Council endeavors to set up high standards for the school in scholarship and conduct. It seeks to improve school conditions and tries to help all students by interpreting student wishes and ideas.

The Council meets weekly to consider such business as the charting of clubs, the enforcing of the point system, school elections and weekly routine matters. These meetings serve as a clearing house for the student ideas and opinions.

This year the Council has been active in helping with the defense program, in such ways as the Valentine Victory Dance, the collection of waste paper, etc. There has been an improvement in the Student Council room, by the addition of benches, paint and a Coca-Cola machine. Also the School Store, operated by Barbara Bingham, has been most profitable and useful to the students.

The 1941-42 Student Council has done much to improve the activities of L.H.S. and is due much credit from those who support it.

T K Φ initiation which always is interesting to the entire student body, is only one interesting feature of a year's work by a good club. This year with Lib Peacock as president, the T K Φ's divided their program into three phases: welfare, personal problems, and socials. Under the first head, the club members did some personal work in addition to sponsoring a benefit Tin-Can show at Christmas and working at the local theaters on the March-of-Dimes. Also the programs included some instruction in first aid. Most of the year's programs dealt with personal problems such as religion, hygiene, poise, popularity, self-criticisms, and charm. Then always important to all members came the three Hi-Y-T K Φ picnics, the regular social hours following the meetings, the tea for all girls in high school, and the climax to all events, the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

The Hi-Y Club is one of the most outstanding clubs in Lexington High School. Membership is based on character, leadership, and service. By conforming to their purpose, "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character," the members are able to erect a higher and clearer prospective of life; they are able to live up to their motto, "Character through service," and they are able to uphold their platform, "Clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living."

Activities Hold Sway

THE toil is over . . . the fun begins. After weeks of long hours and hard work on the part of the staff, THE LEXICON is back from the printers and is ready for your enjoyment.

This annual has been published especially as a remembrance for you of Lexington High School, and it is the desire of the staff that as you turn the pages you may again live a day of the year 1942.

It is only fair that mention be made of the staff members who were largely responsible for the collection of the great mass of materials necessary for the completion of this book. Without their help this book could not have been possible.

Every afternoon the Lexhipec Staff, under the leadership of Elaine Shaw, Editor, and Carroll Wall, Business Manager, and under the direction of Mrs. Ottis Hedrick, struggles with ads and columns and news stories and gossip for the pending issue of the school paper. All of L.H.S. waits eagerly for the distribution of Lexhipecs and the staff deserves much credit for all work done. Most staff members are pointed out by personal headlines above, but the business staff on the bottom row, who do not contribute to the material in the paper, but rather, do the dirty work, should be noted. They are: Blanche Kinsey, John Bame, Geraldine Leonard, Nell Sharpe, Herbert Reeves, and Patsy Solomon.

Basketball

Lexington High finished the basketball season with eight wins and six losses in the South Piedmont Conference. The season was finished with ten wins and eight losses playing Hanes and Salisbury, Class A teams. Lexington racked up a grand total of 603 points against 516 points gathered by their opponents. Although Lexington's record was not impressive six out of their eight losses were lost by margins of two points. Leading the scoring this year was Alger (Chicken) Barnes, center who racked up a total of 160 points. Next in order was Hank Barnes with 132, Joe Tate had 114, Fletcher Wall totaled 101 and Rusty Craver racked up 99. The season was very good considering the fact that Captain Joe Tate was the only regular returning from last year's team. No tournament was entered this year because of the big spring physical education program being carried out for defense, conducted by Coach Tom Young.

The Tri-captains: Nig Lambeth, Rusty Craver, Joe Tate, Gappy Curtis, Everette Hege, Buster Craver, Bobo Carlton, Jukus Curry, Bill Blaylock, Bruce Craver, Parks Easter, Melvin Everhart, Fletcher Wall, and in the middle Coach Young.

The Squad

Coach Tom Young had before him the task of rebuilding the great team of '40! With only three regulars returning to build around, Coach Young added another feather to his cap by producing a good football team that upheld all the traditions acquired by the great teams of the past years. The fact that Coach Young, with H. B. Tucker as assistant coach, can produce year after year top ranking teams, is proof in itself that we have the best coaches any one could desire.

The squad unanimously elected "Nig" Lambeth, Joe Tate, and Rusty Craver as tri-captains. Rusty was shifted from blocking back to tailback, a position in which he was a distinction of one of the best in the state. Joe was shifted from guard to wingback, to match Rusty and to form a good backfield. Injuries at the guard position and reserve strength in the backfield resulted in another shift back to guard. Nig's playing this year marked him as one of the best guards ever to play at L.H.S. Melvin Everhart, Fletcher Wall, George Curry, and Bill Blaylock ended their high school careers by playing top-notch football. Parks Easter, being handicapped by the size of his number of years broke into the starting line at once and played good football. Other lettermen to whom we may still look to the future are Gappy Curtis, Washie Williams, Bill Smith, Bruce Craver, Everette Hege, Bob Carter, and Lee Spears.

The year's team had a very successful season with eight wins, two losses, and one tie. Lexington won the first four games from Winston-Salem, Salisbury, Children's Home of Winston-Salem, and Reidsville. Lexington outplayed High Point, getting fifteen first downs to the "Bisons" three, but a long pass and a perfect placement for the extra point resulted in Lexington's first defeat in thirty-three games. Thomasville held the Yellow Jackets to a scoreless tie. Lexington had the ball on the one foot line when the game ended. Barium Springs got the jump on Lexington, and when the final whistle was blown it was Barium twenty-six, Lexington nothing. Lexington won her other three games from Concord, Statesville, and Mills Home.

The band, drum majorettes, and cheer leaders added to the glamour and festivity of night football. These and the support of a perfect student body inspired the football squad to give to Lexington exactly what they wanted . . . a swell football team.

Half-time Finds the Band

Ready with its Part

The Lexington High School Band now has a membership of forty musicians. Although the band is smaller than last year it has gone a long way in improving its playing ability. Under the splendid and very competent directions of its new director, Mr. J. W. Sawyer, the band attended the District Music Convention in Winston-

Salem and won a rating of two. It has played at many city and county schools and has participated in many patriotic events. With the student body of L.H.S. and the citizens of Lexington behind the band, it will soon become one of the most noted high school bands in the state.

And the Junior Class: With Their Officers

ANN WHITE, President

CHARLIE WILLIAMS, Vice President

SARAH GAMBRELL, Secretary

BOB ARNOLD, Treasurer

The Junior Class of 1942 has far exceeded all expectations in every phase of its undertakings. Heading the list of its numerous achievements, was the splendid sale of cold drinks, candy, peanuts, popcorn, and ice cream at the home games during football season. This was successfully carried on throughout basketball season also. The juniors also sold Lexington High School pennants with satisfying results.

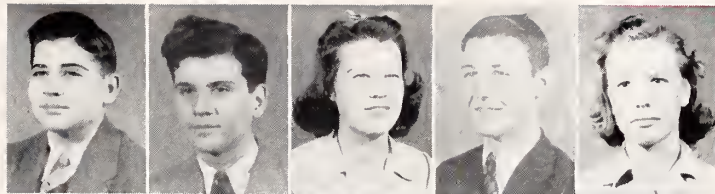

In the Christmas Parade, the Junior Class sponsored a float and a Junior homeroom strode off with first place.

Last, but not least came the annual Junior Class play. Hard work, excellent direction, and coöperation added up to make "Jane Eyre" the biggest production of the year. With complete coöperation from all the Junior Class and its teachers the ticket sales soared over the top.

Highlights of the Senior Class of '42

By ELISE SWICEGOOD

September 1939 marked the big event of an eager group of children who began acquainting ourselves with the new mode of living called "High School Life." When the doors opened for this eager group to experience the goal for which we had so long hoped, we were exceedingly frightened. During the first few days, we had to acquaint ourselves with the faculty, the routine of changing classes, learning the habits of the upperclassmen, and learning to study.

Our early participations in activities of the school from the start acclimated us to High School Life. With the capable and effective leadership of Jimmy Eanes, president, we proved ourselves as being the most efficient class ever to enter Lexington High School. Thus, our freshman year was concluded by adding another good record to a school year.

At the beginning of our Sophomore year, Emily Bower, Dwight Hinkle, and Charline Williams were elected respectively as president, vice president, and secretary and treasurer of our class. Enlarging ourselves by participating in more clubs and school activities, we proved ourselves thoroughly capable of becoming adapted to "High School Life."

This year, we were practically all engaged in some kind of outstanding activity. Among these were: music, football, dramatics, and various others. During this year, the sophomores grew stronger and stronger. By the end of the school term we were ready to enter the coming year with higher spirits of enthusiasm and a greater desire to carry on the development of higher standards.

As our junior year began, we started with high credentials by possessing the inevitable things which we looked forward to in the eighth and ninth grades. Thus, the beginning of the high lights of our High School Life began. This being our junior year, we devoted our lives to higher activities by creating a stronger desire to play a part in athletics and in the publication of the Lexhipec and LEXICON. Obtaining our class rings created a higher spirit within us.

As time passed on, we were nearing the event of the year, the Junior-Senior Banquet in May. Just to participate with the Senior Class in an event of this type brought many thrills to our hearts. In every detail, the banquet of this year proved to be one of the most unique and beautiful banquets ever given a Lexington High School Senior Class. Pressing on with great anxiety and ambition, our Junior Class under the leadership of Frances Louise McKay, president; Elaine Shaw, vice president; and Bill Raker, secretary and treasurer was brought to a close.

This summer of 1941 slipped away quickly. When school reopened, we were undoubtedly looked upon as "Dignified Seniors" with Dwight Hinkle, president; Frances Holt Yarborough, vice president; Ann McLendon, secretary; and Dorothy Spruill, treasurer. Knowing that we had at last reached the final goal that we had for the years wanted to attain, we endeavored to prove that our class was the best not only to enter but to graduate from Lexington High School. With the encouraging past which we had made, we maintained our tradition most definitely.

Now that the end has come, and with it a new beginning, we close our happy years together with the spirit of Longfellow when he said:

"Look not mournfully into the Past. It comes not back again. Wisely improve the Present. It is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy Future, without fear, and with a manly heart."

The Last Will and Testament

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
DAVIDSON COUNTY
City of Lexington
Lexington High School

We, the class of '42 of the aforesaid State, County, City, and school, having survived the ordeal of freshmanhood, having endured the pointless eccentricities of various members of the faculty, having completed four years of English, having juggled with our brains in geometry class, having filled a seat in assembly the correct number of times, and having faced the ordeal of three unexcused tardies, being nevertheless, of a sound mind and body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

Article I. To the Faculty—

- Item I: To Mr. Gerow, we leave a Senior Dramatics Class which is not "Broadway" conscious.
- Item II: To Miss Walser, we leave members of the Honor Society who have time to attend the meetings.
- Item III: To Miss Johnson, we leave no more Carroll Wall's, Ishmael Tate's and Bill Tritt's.
- Item IV: To Miss Roberts, we leave a room with brick walls ten feet thick so that the Glee Club and Band while practicing will not disturb the attention of her class.
- Item V: To Miss Matthews, we leave a homeroom that's "tops" along with our sincere regret for the sad mistake of this year.

Article II. To Individuals—

- Item I: Nellie Allen leaves her cheerfulness to Sarah Gambrell, who is already a "ray of sunshine."
- Item II: "Toby" Hinkle regretfully leaves his size "44" breeches to Bill Smith.
- Item III: "Pig" Banks leaves his effortless love affairs to Calvin Wall who seems to be up against it.
- Item IV: Robert McCrary sorrowfully gives the custody of "Rosie" to Giles Crowell.
- Item V: Bill Morris leaves his "trumpeting" to Kenneth Young.
- Item VI: Bud Ward and "Stumpy" Craver leave their ready wit and antics to anyone who can be as "bright."
- Item VII: "Lib" Davis wills her radiant all-round personality to Jean Griffith.
- Item VIII: Jo Boone surrenders her "innocent looks" to Myra Mathis (who is doing very well even now).
- Item IX: Robert Stevenson leaves his artistry to Barbara Lewis, a noble acceptor.
- Item X: Frances Holt Yarborough wills her mastery of histrionics to Marie Elliott.
- Item XI: Archie Wilbanks bequeaths his "Dude" clothes to Billy Gray Koontz.
- Item XII: Hoyt Sink wills his "gentlemanly" manners to Bob Arnold.
- Item XIII: Betty Sue Morris bequeaths her "prina donna" traits to Katherine Hillard.
- Item XIV: Phillip Sowers leaves his oratorical triumphs to Walter Foil Brinkley.
- Item XV: Paul Shaw presents the school with one of his autographed photographs to be hung in the Student Council Room.
- Item XVI: Helen Smith leaves to Jackie Thomason that "Come hither look."
- Item XVII: Donald Lambeth bestows his handsome countenance to "Gappy" Curtis.
- Item XVIII: Ray Story and Tiny Taylor leave their ability to panhandle to anyone who can master the art.
- Item XIX: Elaine Shaw bestows her crown of being best all-round to Jeanne Williamson.
- Item XX: Emily Bower leaves her 146 I. Q. to any one who can raise genius ability.
- Item XXI: "Ginny" and "Willy" leave their uninterrupted love affair to Everette and Maxine.
- Item XXII: Ishmael Tate leaves—(period).

Article III. To the Classes—

- Item I: To the rising Senior Class, we leave a microscope in hopes that they will be successful in finding the Senior Privileges the undiscovered laws that have remained unknown to us.
 - Item II: To the rising Junior Class we leave the hope that you have as much success in securing money for the Junior-Senior as the present junior class did.
 - Item III: To the rising Sophomore Class we leave all the success in the world for you to master "Caesar" and "Silas Marner."
 - Item IV: To the Freshmen of '42 we leave the fun and frolic of three fruitful years to come.
- In testimony whereof, we, the testators aforesaid, hereunto subscribe our names and suffix our seals this the first day of April in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty-two.

DOT SPRUILL,
Testator.

Senior Class Prophecy

Take it easy, ole gal, you know you have always been accused of having hallucinations. But you're not dreaming; this is actually Lexington—the Lexington you left behind ten years ago after being graduated from dear old L.H.S. It's hard to believe that this bustling, noisy city of 100,000 was once a quiet, sleepy little town of 10,000.

Now I step on a super streamlined bus only to be greeted by Shelly Yarborough, the bus driver. Yes, he actually was graduated with the class of '42. What's that that whizzed by? It was James Watson, another bus driver.

To the residential section of the city. My, what a quaint old home. Oh, that's the home of one of Lexington's best-loved citizens, Dot Spruill, who is a confirmed old maid. Her current best seller "Life Without Love" has swept the country with a storm of approval.

There's that darling Peggy Miller, uh, Peggy Wall, entertaining her two sons, twins, on the front lawn. That blond curly hair is most familiar. Her husband, Carrol, is president of the Lucky Strike Tobacco Company whose main office is located in Lexington.

That lady looks familiar who just stepped into that limousine. Certainly, it's the former Frances Louise McKay. Her husband, Bill Bingham, Postmaster. The lady with her is her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bruce Gaines, the former Barbara Bingham. Bruce is the former boxer, now turned promoter.

We are now looking at the home of Lexington's Mayor, Dwight Hinkle, who is married to the former Lib Davis. My, but it's a noisy place. Oh! well, what's a home without kids! The Hinkles have been blessed with four.

There's the home of one of Lexington's richest business men, William Daniels. He was recently married to the nation's number one jitterbug, Ginney Madsen. His secretaries are Nell Sharpe, Blanch Kensey, Patsy Solomon and Geraldine Leonard and he's still the same lazy Willie.

That swanky home, with pool and tennis courts, is the summer home of Bud Ward, the playboy. Bud is taking time out between trips from Hollywood to Broadway to come back to his first love, Lexington. He's been busy denying rumors of a current romance with Jo Boone, Miss America of 1949.

I must go to the museum, for I've been told that Lexington has some of the most coveted modern paintings of any Museum in these United States, painted and donated by none other than the world famous artist, Robert Louis Stevenson. The lady in charge is the former Helen Smith, now married to Dallas Shoaf. My, I can just imagine what an uproar Lexington was in when she was wed. There wasn't but one happy male in the city and that was the groom. You well remember what a heart-breaker she was. "Smitty" has now come into her own as an artist and a designer, while Dallas owns one of the largest grocery stores in Lexington.

See that building that covers a whole block? That's Lexington's new radio station, owned and operated by Aurie Myers.

There's Ray Story, owner of Costner's, and Everette Hege, manager of Merit's, chatting—talking about their marital bliss, no doubt. Everette's married to Bobbie Hinkle and Ray to Edith Sink. Buck Kirk is assistant manager of Merit's now.

I might as well go to McLellan's and see my old friends. Swannell Cranford is still giving sugar to all the boys. Nora Perryman's still selling records. Connie Bailey is the efficient secretary. Fannie Sowers' husband is the manager, did you know?

That distinguished looking gentleman getting into the car is Dr. Phillip Sowers. Looks distinguished, doesn't he?

The new National Theater is a beauty. The manager is Vestal Everhart, and the cashier is Anne McLendon. They are having the world's premiere of "Out of My Heart" starring Lexington's own Charles Lohr and Doris Biesecker. Charles is the new "Charles Boyer" of the movies and Doris is the new "piff girl." You'll find Council Cowan catching the tickets.

Robert McCrary and Bill Morris are those long-faced gents standing on the street corner there. They're partners in the undertaking business, and they're wondering whether they are going to have to resort to under-handed methods in pepping up their trade.

Lexington has the leading newspaper in the South, The Daily Gazette, edited by Clifford Banks. All his editorials are written on "Why Caroline Cook Should Marry Me," while he bribes Herbert Foster, poet of note, to write poems to his own sweet Caroline. By the way, Caroline is his girl Friday, and one of the best business executives in town. Herbert Reeves is the best photographer in the business. Parks Easter, foremost sports writer in the country, is on the staff and his column appears daily in the Gazette as well as in papers all over the country.

I'll drop in at the library to see my old friend, Pearl Hege Reynolds, librarian. Jack Weddington is her assistant.

While I think of it, I'd better stop by to see the florist, Christine Bates, and order a corsage for the banquet tonight.

Guess I might as well go on to my hotel, Lexington's Hotel Modernne. The manager is Hoyt Sink, and his staff of assistants are sure to please. Chief cook and bottle washer is the one and only (thank goodness) N. H. Leonard. You'll find these bell-hops, George Clifton, Franklin Everhart, Elzavan Hinson, Clifford Lopp, and Ralph Richey, ever ready to assist you. Don't dare tip one, 'cause your life will be endangered in the mad rush. Those girls with abbreviated dresses are elevator girls. "Service to please" is the motto. They are Lelon Allen, Helen Jones, Etta Frances Dorsett and Jacqueline Eastep.

And who should I find next door to me but Dr. Hilda Conrad, from Podunk, also in for the reunion. A country doctor: what a life! Her nurses are Maureen and Sarah Conrad.

As I go again to the lobby, I have a queer feeling as I observe a bespectacled woman with her nose in a book. It can't be, why it is! It's Doctor Emily Bower, who has astounded the world with her theories of evolution.

I've got plenty of time, so I might as well visit Lexington High School. The distinguished looking gentleman behind the principal's desk is Alger Barnes. Elise Swicegood is his secretary. I'm greeted by teachers on every hand—Mary Brown, Martha Young, Dot Wilson, and Elizabeth Jenkins. The superintendent is Bill Blaylock, noted for his oratorical power. In the business department I find Louise Michael and Elaine Smith giving speed tests. Charlie Williams is the director of girls physical education classes.

Heavenly days, it's getting late and I've got an appointment with The Beautiful Lady Salon. Callie Marie Jarvis is the owner and her assistants are Margaret Biesecker, Evelyn Satterfield, and Elizabeth Myers. Nellie Allen is the cosmetician there.

It's only fifteen minutes before time for the banquet. I must get a move on. I'm at the hotel now. I'll get a maid to help me dress. My, what service! Two hostesses, Rachel Yarborough and Frances Wrenn rush up to see that I have ample help.

Taxi! Rush me over to the Spark Club, Lexington's exclusive night club, where the banquet and reunion is being held in the ballroom. Archie Wilbanks is the owner. L. E. Hart is the bouncer.

Soft music greets my ears as I enter. Paul Shaw, "That Beautiful Chunk of Man," and his band are playing for the gala affair. Still handing out photographs, I see! My, who is that lovely lady entering? Why that's Elaine Shaw, top songstress of the day.

That guy over there, towering head and shoulders over everyone else, is Tiny Taylor, who for the last five years has been Heavyweight Champion of the world. He is talking with Doodle "The Kid" McCrary, recently crowned Lightweight Champion of the world.

"Stumpy" Craver is asleep as usual. He is now with F.B.I. and doing as little of nothing as possible. A fact of much less importance is his marriage.

What's all the commotion? Bill Raker, the toast of Broadway, has just arrived and is being hounded by autograph seekers. His wife, the former Lib Peacock, is not in the least bewildered, because it is an everyday occurrence for her.

All the laughter is coming from that direction. I should have known that it was Lawrence Everhart, radio's foremost comedian. He has everyone in a tizzy. That lovely blond with him is Helen Nance, his radio script writer.

Mrs. Bud Lohr (Maxine Wagner) is discussing her happy married life with Mrs. Roger Williams (Mary Stokes).

Ladine Michael is telling Revaughn Smith about her music students. Now and then Revaughn gets in a word about her pet (animal, of course) shop.

That curvacious, glamorous group of girls trying to out talk each other is made up of Clara Herbert, Helen Pearman, Jackie Mims, Edith Simon, and Kitty Pittman. They are chorus girls in the same show on Broadway.

Mary Jo Davis and Rachel Koonts are discussing plans for their coming marriage.

Giggling! Oh, what memories! Giggles like those could come from but two people, Hazel Yarborough and Evelyn Everhart. They are personal maid and secretary to personal affairs, respectively, to Fanny Holt Yarborough, the newest comet to Broadway.

Jean Peeler, organist, is talking over old times with Christine Leonard, a secretary.

Those girls in white are nurses, Betty Pickett (heroine of World War II, decorated for standing by her post in time of danger) is talking with Lois Yarborough and Kat Wallace, who also served in the war. Now they go over to join another group of nurses, Caroline Driver, Nettie Mae Edwards, Lillian Thompson, Marjorie Everhart, and Virginia Everhart.

Phyllis Shoaf, secretary to the Secretary of Agriculture, is telling about life in Washington. She is talking to Irene Meeks, Jacqueline McCulloch, Mary Jo Lohr, Rachel Hudson, Mildred Fleming, Ruby Everhart, and Della Mae Curry, who are also secretaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Turner (Hilda Tesh) are talking to Sam Turner about their garage. They're partners and both are happy about the boom in business. Delos Lyons, Roby Atkins, and J. D. Leonard, their mechanics, seem happy too.

William Jolly, circulation manager of the Lexington Times, is in deep conversation with George Hatley, manager of the Granada, better known as the Shooting Gallery.

Jimmy Holman and Robert Everhart, both successful traveling salesmen, are talking with their boss, Elmer Leonard.

Clarence Campbell and Melvin Everhart, owners of Erlanger Cotton Mills, are discussing plans for the expansion of their plant.

Ishmael Tate, flying ace of the Second World War, is talking with his bosom pal, Fletcher Wall, President of Wall Lumber Company, about girls.

Those guys with their chests thrown out and cigars in their mouths are Clayton Gray, Morris Phillips, Eugene Putnam, Paul Shillinglaw, and Bruce Black, partners in the Junk Business. The chest expansion is due to the flourishing business.

Robert Disher and Vernon Morris of the Yanks are in a heated argument with Pat Myers and Cletus Link of the Giants, over who will win the series.

Ralph Curtis, a professional wrestler, is demonstrating a hold on Jimmy Everhart, a recently turned pro in the golfing world.

All eyes are now focused on Betty Sue Morris, glamorous star of the Metropolitan Opera, talking to Bill Tritt, who is with the New York Philharmonic Symphony.

Magdaline Coggins has organized a Lonely Hearts Society or a Date-Bait Bureau. A few of the active members are Elizabeth Copley, Mary Beck, Gladys Everhart, Ruth Fritts, Ruby Hanes, Ruth Hanes, Dot Fowler, Frances Holt, and Ray Nell Miller. You might know that they'd be scheming.

Frances Beck who is studying art in New York, is showing off her pictures to Olga Barnes, an interior decorator.

Richard Kivett is telling Eddie Maley, Arvel Frazier, Henry Hardister, and Arthur Copley (aviators who saw active duty in the war) about the new bomber he has designed.

Audrey Smith and Bernice Lanning, who are sales girls in Belks, are telling Iris Leonard, Mildred Walser, Sara Sowers, Ruby Sneed, Charlotte Myers, and Bernice Morgan what well-dressed secretaries should wear.

Dr. Franklin Everhart is cheering Sam Jenkins about his poor memory. He's carefully explaining that it's natural for some people to be more stupid than others.

It was a weary but most grateful person who sat down to observe the faces of my friends. I studied each face carefully, and in each I saw life in its truest, richest form. As I sat there looking at the happy faces, tears of happiness came into my eyes. I sat back, sighed, and my heart cried out, "Life has indeed been very kind to the class of '42!"

GENESIS

With each new day, the set of sun,
The tick of a clock, the end has come.
Our hearts swell with pride and fear,
For graduation day is near.

Fear not, 'tis the beginning, not the end;
A new life of hope must begin.
A world cries to us on bended knee,
"Help a suffering humanity."

True, they have lost; but we'll not fail
To win their battle. We will assail
Destructive foes; and we'll fight
For a cause we know is right.

These years of companionship have ended at last;
We've weathered the storms, our trials are past;
We cherish Alma Mater, with sorrows and fun.
Ring down the curtain! Our triumph is begun.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to cooperate with the staff in creating their vision into material form.

Such coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

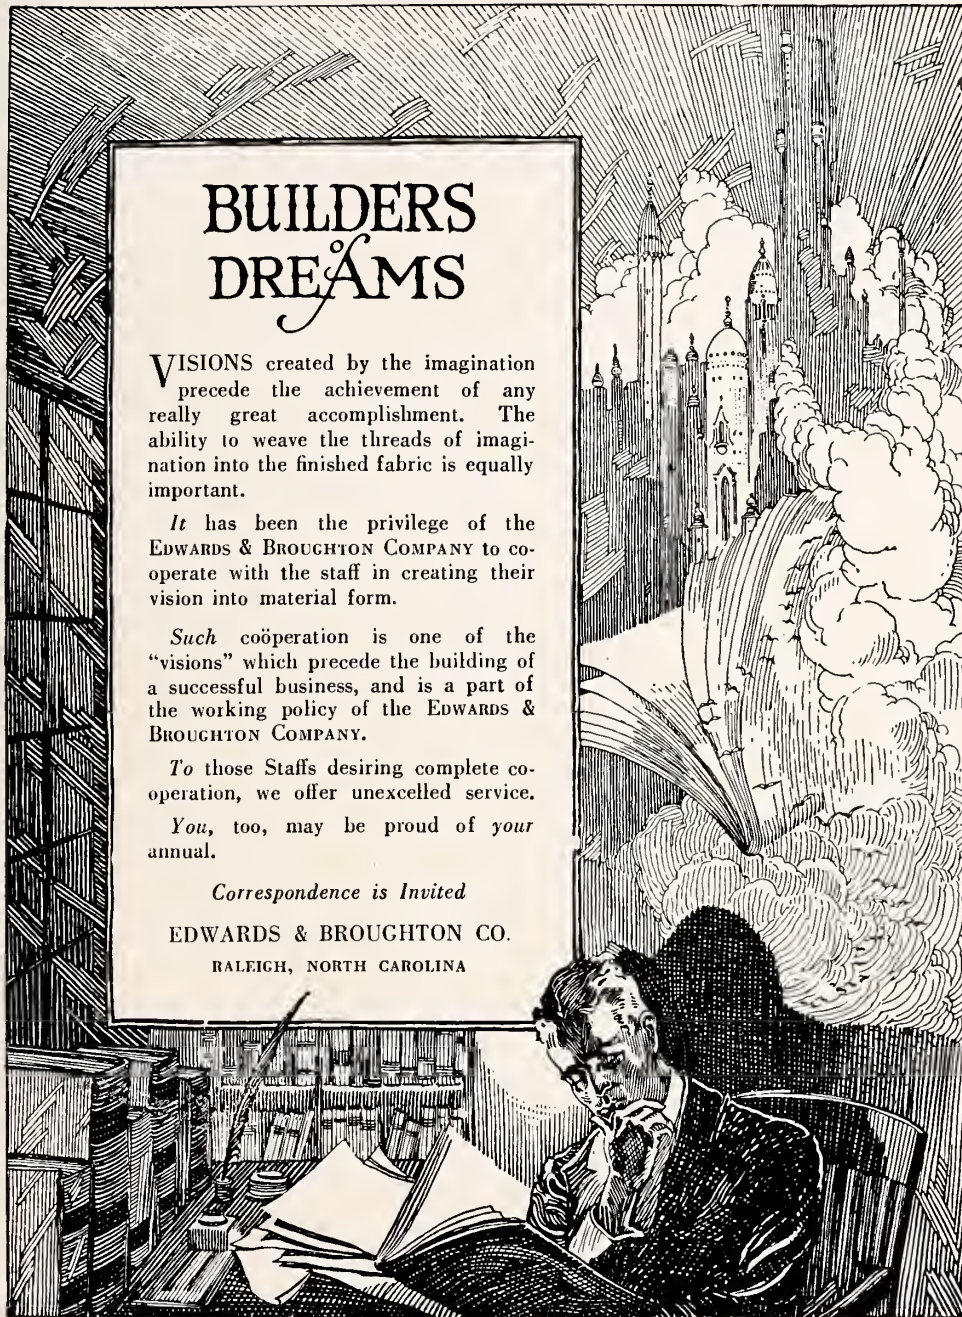

To those Staffs desiring complete cooperation, we offer unexcelled service.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.

Correspondence is Invited
